DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to applicant's amendments filed on January 23, 2008.
2. Claims 1-2 and 6-7 have been amended.
3. Claims 11-15 are newly added for consideration.
4. Claims 1-15 are currently pending.

Election/Restrictions

5. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:
 - I. Species of the embodiment disclosed corresponding to the first aspect disclosed in Specification, from Page 1, line 26 to Page 2, line 21, which is drawn to a digital printing apparatus includes, among others, “a transfer device which transfers to the printer the printing image data generated by the printing image data generation device”.
 - II. Species of the embodiment disclosed corresponding to the second aspect disclosed in Specification, Page 2, line 22 to Page 3, line 8, which is drawn to a digital printing apparatus includes, among others, “a printer selection device which selects an available printer from among the plurality of printers; a transfer device which transfers to the printer selected by the printer selection device the printing image data generated by the printing image data generation device”.
 - III. Species of the embodiment disclosed corresponding to the third aspect disclosed in Specification, Page 3, line 9 to line 16, which is drawn to a digital printing apparatus includes, among others, “...the image data reading speed of the data reading device depends on the type of recording medium, the computation device computes the requisite printing time further from the type of recording medium”.

IV. Species of the embodiment disclosed corresponding to the fourth aspect disclosed in Specification, Page 3, line 17 to line 24, which is drawn to a digital printing apparatus includes, among others, "...the computation device computes a requisite printing time for the contents of print set by the setting device further from the type of print service".

V. Species of the embodiment disclosed corresponding to the fifth aspect disclosed in Specification, Page 3, line 25 to Page 4, line 3, which is drawn to a digital printing apparatus includes, among others, "the digital printing apparatus computes the requisite printing time from the time required to read image data by the data reading device, the time required to generate the printing image data by the print image data generation device, and the time required to transfer the printing image data by the transfer device, and the printing time by the printer".

VI. Species of the embodiment disclosed corresponding to the sixth aspect disclosed in Specification, Page 4, line 4 to line 13, which is drawn to a digital printing apparatus includes, among others, "...the computation device detects a printing execution progress, constantly computes remaining requisite printing time, and displays the computed remaining requisite printing time on the display device".

6. The species are independent or distinct because claims to different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species, such as the ones discussed above. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

7. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is found to be generic.

8. There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g. searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

9. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

10. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

11. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

12. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

13. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

14. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
